In this interview, they share their journey from offline to digital, the concept in which they built the YouTube channel that has close to 4.5 million subscribers (to date), and more. Who are we? We are a team of motivators who believe in converting one's potential into their performance. To achieve this, we constantly strive to reach the widest possible audience through some of the best online and offline sources and focus on pain points that most individuals face. We create and deliver high-quality digital videos and training programs through our YouTube channel, conduct offline training programs, workshops, publish books, etc. We are actively involved with our audience through social media channels with the central goal of motivating people and adding value to their lives. In a nutshell, we are behavioral trainers/motivational speakers – we are catalysts! Our Journey We started small by conducting offline training sessions and workshops. Almost immediately we realized that the future is changing rapidly, and then the forms of learning. This was the time when we decided to switch from offline training to digital training. In 2012, we first moved into the digital space, when internet coverage in India was only about 7%. We started creating training videos and publishing them on YouTube, simplifying the complex training concepts. Took the training online – from the boardrooms and auditoriums to our YouTube channel – and thus enabled people to watch our motivational videos anytime and anywhere – at their ease and comfort. As internet penetration increased in India, we witnessed an increase in consumption of content based on vernacular and popular media as well. Demand for regional content grew and we modernised ourselves with the changing trend. Our team made sure we took care of every part of the community and highlight issues that mattered most. Soon we've added about 3.7 million subscribers to our family – with about 10 million views each month! Today we are regularly invited by various companies like NTPC, Bharat Petroleum, PayTM, Sony, IITs, Medela India, Castrol, Sony, and many more to conduct motivational sessions and empower young people! We are all equally committed to what we do, and we do it all with the utmost zeal and enthusiasm. Our members are experienced professionals and experts within their respective domains. Our mission statement It has always been our mission to help and motivate people through all walks of life, especially the young. Our vision is to create a world free of depression, anger, suicide, hatred and evil. Our efforts are focused on giving young people in the right direction. Do we create content for? Our primary audiences include students, millennials, and young entrepreneurs - typically those aged 18 - 35. We specialize in creating meaningful and relevant content for Hindi-speaking audiences all over the world – essentially for those who are ready to bring a positive change in their lives! We're working with... We have partnered with countless corporate customers – both domestic and multinational companies. To name some, our list includes IIT Delhi, NTPC, NDIM, Mahindra Agro, Godrej, HSBC, Llyod Group, DuPont, SAS, IIT Mohali, etc. We are proud. We work very hard to deliver the best quality content to our beloved audience and we are very proud of everything we do! If we have to choose one of our 'best content' services, we will go with our Study Tips series – something that is loved by our students globally! We conducted extensive research into what our audience needs most, and we learned that effective study is not only an important part of our lives, but also the most challenging run for people – from the young to their parents. Thus, we worked very hard to come up with smart tips and practices for our students, and as we expected, this was most well liked by our TG too! Our WTF moment During the first days of my training, one of my sessions was scheduled for 2 hours with a famous organization. I was asked to share the scene with another well-known expert. While I was all pepped up and prepared for my scheduled time, there were last minute changes to the plan. The other speaker did not show up and I had to complete the whole meeting. I delivered an 8-hour long session instead of 2 hours. I managed to improvise my whole session right away. I had put in a lot of effort and closed the session successfully. To this day, this session has been known as one of my best motivational sessions. Keep an eye on... Stay tuned for some exciting books and videos about the untapped dimensions of life.
